Dear Recruitment Team,

RE: Business Development Manager, Good Financial Grant Practice (GFGP)

When I saw the job posting looking for the Business Development Manager, Good Financial Grant Practice (GFGP), I knew I had to submit my resume. I am a finance and accounting professional with over nine years professional experience in the Financial Services sector in Kenya and some countries in Africa. I am currently looking for an opportunity that will enable me exploit my knowledge, skills and mission to promote access, efficiency, growth and entrepreneurship .

As a financial services expert who has interest in innovation, I have worked on systems that enhance service in the rural areas, underserved areas, worked with the youth using technology in promoting outreach and other modes of inclusion. I have also designed and managed projects that aim to increase access of services to the rural areas, design of innovative delivery channels, standardization of services and integration of livelihoods especially agriculture and the youth to these projects. My experience has included working with the Bottom of the Pyramid, emerging markets, private organizations, donor supported agencies, financial services providers, policy makers and regulators covering areas of design, implementation, reporting and closure. I have also managed remittance transactions of a multi-currency nature.

I am proud of my outgoing nature and ability to use my entrepreneurial mind to seek solutions. This has enhanced my analytical, communication, presentation, reporting and management skills. I enjoy working with a wide variety of people and am a multi-tasker, diligent self-starter and eager team player.

Thank you for taking the time to review my resume and consider me for this position. You can contact me with any questions by emailing me at omakoryuk@yahoo.co.uk or by calling me on +254 723 318313. I have attached my Curriculum Vitae that will provide and more details on my professional life.

I look forward to the possibility of discussing this exciting opportunity with you.

Warmest regards,

Obed Makori
